DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the adequate representation of the headphones as claimed must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Objections

Claim 7 is objected to because of the following informalities: "din" should be written as -- in --. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 7 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Claybaugh et al., U. S. Patent No. 5815582.

Regarding claim 7, Claybaugh discloses a headset for noise cancellation which includes a headset with a two speakers with a microphone attached thereto, and filter for enabling noise cancellation, therein as claimed (col.2, lines 57-67 and col. 3, lines 1-7).

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-3, and 7-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by McIntosh, U. S. Patent No. 6278786.

Regarding claims 1-3 and 7-8, McIntosh discloses an active noise cancellation headset system. McIntosh's disclosure comprises headphone with a sound transducer (microphone) and loudspeaker(s), a noise cancellation circuitry (housing 15/35) remote for the headphone, and filter, therein as claimed (abstract, col. 3, lines 32-67, col. 4, lines 1-8. col. 5, lines 8-42).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 4-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over McIntosh.

Regarding claim 4-5, McIntosh discloses everything claimed as applied above (see claim 1). McIntosh discloses the use of a high pass filter. However, McIntosh fails to disclose filter including a resistor and capacitor network. A filter including a resistor/capacitor network was well known in the art. Thus, it would have been obvious to one of the ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the invention of McIntosh by providing such a filter for the purpose of adequate the filter performance as desired.

Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over McIntosh in view of Claybaugh et al.

Regarding claim 6, McIntosh discloses everything claimed as applied above see claim 1. McIntosh discloses a microphone. However, McIntosh fails to disclose the microphone as an electret condenser microphone.

In a similar field of endeavor, Claybaugh discloses the use of an electret condenser microphone in a noise cancellation headset (col. 2, lines 46-56).

It would have been obvious to one of the ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the invention of McIntosh by implementing an electret condenser microphone for the purpose of enabling effective optimal noise cancellation of high frequency noise as taught by Claybaugh.
